

CHEMICAL

MIND CONTROL

SATURATION

Controllable chemicals saturate your body tissue, bone and brain. Chemicals in an unidentified gas form are intentionally loaded in your body by transdermal absorption to make an electrochemical interface. This is usually done to each person prior to birth so that you would not know any difference. This interface allows the "People Controllers" to know where you are at all times. See what you see through your eyes and hear what you here through your ears, giving controllers total information awareness. The interface allows them to control your thoughts, actions and responses to all stimuli as well as create dreams, deja vu and personality traits. Our lives have been controlled by another force with the power of chemicals. Some of the sources of these chemicals are oil refineries and raw material operations such as mining and chemical manufacturers. The "People Controllers" have access to technology that a majority of our society is unaware of and uses this technology to control your mind, and body in various ways. These chemicals have transmutable (can change) and telekinetic (can be remote controlled) properties. The chemicals are used to create and control illness, disease, aging, accidents, crime and death. The chemicals also have the ability to trap and feed pathogens (bacteria, viruses and fungus) in the body's tissue, possibly leading to a multitude of infections. Ever having a headache will tell you that you have chemicals in your head and you are under control. These chemicals are used to create a Bio-compatible Chemical Control System (BCCS) and sit dormant in the body until activated. When activated they can cause one or more of the following symptoms of illness: blurry vision, cataracts, hearing loss, ring of the ears, ear wax, balance & coordination problems, fatigue, cold & flu like symptoms, fever, chills, seizures, dementia, dizziness, vertigo, sleep disturbances, menstrual problems, menopause, sexual malfunction, sexually transmitted diseases, yeast infections, digestive ailments, heartburn, vomiting, flatulence/gas, tumors, cancer, high tolerances to drugs and alcohol, most all addictions, cravings, thrush, hair loss or skin problems including acne, color changes and lesions, joint pain, obesity, bloating, respiratory ailments including sinus problems, asthma, allergies, speech impediments, dental problems including TMJ and grinding teeth, all plaques in the body, psychological disorders, concentration difficulties, long term and short term memory problems, mood swings, anxiety, depression, learning difficulties, involuntary muscle movements, close duration blinking, hallucinations, black-outs, fainting, heart attacks, strokes, and death. Modern medicine has not found a cure for any disease known to man. Medical researchers and pharmaceutical companies are paid an exorbitant amount of money to look for cures for disease, but not find them. Our lives are controlled by an unknown group of people that use the power of chemicals to play God. Knowing, redistributing, and believing this information will expose the cover-up of mass population mind control. Please read this life saving information again.
